White Elephant Sale
What is a WHITE ELEPHANT SALE? It is a collection of the worst merchandise we can find. It contains mixes that don't match, things that never matched, buyers' goofs, shopworn items, clean things that just happen to be ugly. We have enjoyed poking fun at these items and hope you will enjoy reading the copy as much as we did writing it. Sorry, no phone orders, returns, adjustments, layaways, or anything else on these items. Come have fun hunting White Elephants!
The Ahead-Behind Rack
We certainly don't want to give the impression that anybody in Appomattox is behind the times. But — we have a rack of items that sold out nationwide. We still have a few left. We also have a few items that our smart buyer knew better but bought them any way. Values to $46.00.....$9.00
Bits and Pieces
The name describes this rack. There is a little of this and a little of that. Some dressy, some casual, some tops, some bottoms, some sizes, some no sizes. If you're lucky — Values to $28.00.....$6.00
Sportswear
We have a nice selection of mixes that don't match. This group should be of special interest to all you gals with X-large bottoms and very small tops or X-large tops and very small bottoms. Hopefully, you already own pieces of these nationally known brands. Reg. $16.00-$82.00.....$6—$35
The Sunday-Go-To-Meeting Group
Dress shirts are featured here. Good dress shirts as anybody who has worn Enro will tell you. For all you men who still remember how to button a top button and tie a tie, this is an outstanding value group.....½ Price
Dresses
Exactly what is it you women wear when you dress up? It certainly isn't dresses and we've got a whole rack to prove it. So we've reduced these to embarrassingly low prices and next year we're buying gunney sacks! Values to $85.00.....$14—$39
The Wooly Bear Rack
This rack is so named because we have some great wooly skirts. Also it looks like some sizes are going to be a "Bear" to get rid of. These skirts were some of our best. Last Fall they were valued to $48.00. This Spring they are reduced to.....$18
The Tight Wad Ring
If you always wanted a diamond ring but were to tight to spend the money, we have a solution. We now have a beautiful 17 Facet diamond ring. The ring is heart-shaped and right in the center is a huge 1 point diamond. This diamond is so big it can almost be seen with the naked eye. Thousands of this ring has sold in Atlanta for $19.95. Appomattox price.....$14.99
Bags, Bags, Bags
Handbags are on sale. Not necessarily to be purchased by "old bags". Come to think of it, some of these bags will probably be purchased by "old bags". No, Gay, I wasn't speaking of you! Come check out our bags.....½ Price or Less

Carter is elected to committee

Betsy Hurt Carter, former child abuse protective service coordinator with the Appomattox Department of Social Services, was recently elected to the Multidiscipline Team and Volunteer Subcommittee of the Governor's Child Abuse Advisory Committee.

Betsy, a native of Lynchburg and graduate of E. C. Glass High School holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Sociology from Longwood College.

She is the wife of Robert Carter, Appomattox native and practicing attorney. They have four children: Bobby, 16 years; Billy, 13 years; Beth, 11 years; and Becky, 8 years. Betsy's main interests are her family and home, friends, water sports, and work related to "helping others".

Betsy is well known to the community for her active participation in civic and religious activities, such as: teaching Sunday School at Liberty Baptist Church for the past 10 years; a member of the Junior and Senior Womans' Club for the past 14 years, having served a as president of both; a member of the Longwood College Alumni Association, serving as national president.

Professionally she has worked as a registered social worker in the Child Welfare Division of Lynchburg Social Services Department, Henrico County Social Services, Virginia State Welfare Department, and the Appomattox Department of Social Services. Recently, she was instrumental in forming the Appomattox Social Services Volunteer Program. The goal for the program is to help ease certain social problems and to teach persons in need ways in which they may improve the quality of their lives.

Presently, Betsy serves as a member of the Appomattox Multidiscipline Team, a team of representatives from various professional fields who meet monthly in a corporate attempt to resolve difficult family problems that have resulted in child abuse and neglect situations. The secondary goal of the Multidiscipline is to educate the public regarding child abuse and neglect problems in Appomattox County.

The body of the subcommittee of Multidiscipline teams and volunteers is charged by the Governor's Child Abuse and Neglect Advisory Committee with support for the establishment and functioning of multidiscipline teams across the Commonwealth. The purpose of multidiscipline teams shall be to promote, advocate, and assist in the development of a coordinated service system directed at the early diagnosis, comprehensive treatment, and prevention of child abuse and neglect. Functions of the multidiscipline team shall include: identifying abused and neglected children; coordination medical, social, and legal services for children and their families; helping to develop innovative programs for detection and prevention of child abuse and neglect; promoting community concern and action in the area of child abuse and neglect; disseminating information to the general public with respect to the problem of child abuse and neglect and the facilities and prevention and treatment methods available to combat child abuse and neglect.

Appomattox County citizens applaud Mrs. Carter for her interest and concern in promoting effective interacting human services delivery to reduce the social problem of child abuse and neglect.

Local youths create costumes

RANDY FERGUSON and Jay Stubblefield cringe in horror as they are approached by Joe Servis (in monster costume).

Mrs. Brauns-Abbitt's fifth grade class decided to do their book reports by demonstrating a part of the book.

One of the students, Joseph Servis, made a costume to represent a book called Creative Costumes by Marcia Lynn Cox.

The space man costume is made of papier-mache, newspaper, construction paper and styrofoam bowls.

The space man is a monster here in Appomattox, but he says that back home he looks just like everyone else.

PTA program set

As the average American family settles around the television little Billy cries out, "I want that!" The commercial continues with vibrant colors as ecstatic children perfectly demonstrate unimaginable feats with the new plaything. Billy is overcome with technical salesmanship that surpasses his ability to decipher the true picture. Many parents fall victim to the "I want that" syndrom.

If you have been a participant in a similar situation, whether at the grocery or toy store, you will want to be present at the Appomatox Primary School P.T.A. on Thursday, March 18 at 7:00 p.m. as Dr. Sue Davis presents "Parents and Teachers Developing Children's Thinking Skills." Dr. Davis, Elementary Supervisor for the State Department of Education, will discuss the importance of emphasizing skills that assist children in thinking correctly in a logical fashion. Although children are not able to utilize formai thinking until the late fifth and sixth grade laying the foundation for such development begins at a much earlier age. As parents we should be concerned with that development. Dr. Davis will conclude her presentation with a brief question and answer session.

You won't want to miss this!
